

WORKING WITH INTERPRETERS

2-4pm, Tuesday 25th October
via Zoom

TRAINING AIMS

This introductory session will offer an insight into the role of the public service interpreter and will provide an overview of how service providers and interpreters can work together to achieve the best outcome, with some tips on the best practice.

WHO IS DELIVERING THE TRAINING?

The session will be delivered by Zora Jackman, qualified interpreter and Public Service Interpreting tutor at Cardiff University.

The session has been organised by Let's Interpret - a community project based at South Riverside Community Development Centre, that teaches bilingual and multilingual women the skills they need to become competent professional interpreters.
